

iMS GmbH – innovative Medizin Systeme

Since 2019, iMS GmbH has been very successfully carrying out medical technology pioneering work as a newly founded young company. With our innovative simLa6® venous laser system, we are taking minimally invasive vein therapy to a new level!

In order to expand our dynamically developing interdisciplinary technical team at the Tutzing near Munich, we are now looking for a committed

Quality Manager Medical Technology (m/f/d) – Product Conformity

YOUR MAIN TASKS ARE:

- Product-related quality management according to MDD/MDR for active medical devices including certification procedures and conformity assessments
- QM-side support of product developments and improvements in cooperation with external partners
- Preparation of error analysis and solution finding for quality defects (CAPA)
- Management and support of mostly domestic manufacturing partners
- Open-minded and friendly communication in the interdisciplinary iMS team

YOUR QUALIFICATIONS:

- Completed vocational training in the field of electrical engineering, mechatronics or mechanical engineering, medical technology, quality management or similar or a corresponding Bachelor's or university degree
- Several years of professional experience in the above-mentioned specialist areas
- Proven knowledge of MDD/MDR and the standards DIN/EN/ISO 13485, 14971, 60601
- Ability to work in a team as well as an independent and goal-oriented way of working
- Very good German and good knowledge of spoken and written English
- In-depth expertise in dealing with MS-Office

WE OFFER:

- A challenging, varied and versatile job with our top product simLa6®
- High design and development potential in an innovative and growth-oriented young company, which will offer jobs near the S-Bahn in the future
- Flexible working time models – up to three days/week in the home office – and above-average basic salary, as well as performance-related remuneration and bonuses
- Modern and pleasant working conditions, equipment and equipment

Have we grabbed your interest? We look forward to receiving your meaningful application, stating your salary expectations and the possible starting date to:

together@ims-medical.de